

Erin K. Jackson, JD, MA

pelvic pain survivor | attorney | public speaker | writer | women's health advocate | educator

SPEAKING ENGAGEMENTS

- American Physical Therapy Association
 - Rosalind-Franklin University
 - Elmhurst College
- MO Physical Therapy Association
- MI Physical Therapy Association (keynote)
- FL Physical Therapy Association
- IL Physical Therapy Association
 - San Diego Pain Summit*
- NY Physical Therapy Association (keynote)*
 - IL Physical Therapy Association*

upcoming engagements*

PODCASTS

- APTA Move Forward Radio
- Business, Baseball & Bourbon
 - Owning HER Health
 - The Knowbodies
- The Pelvic Health Podcast
- Healthy Wealthy & Smart

SCHOLARSHIP

- To Have and to Hold: Protecting the Sexual Integrity of the World's Married Women
- Addressing the Inconsistency between Statutory Rape Laws and Underage Marriage: Abolishing Early Marriage and Removing the Spousal Exemption to Statutory Rape

Erin is an experienced and engaging speaker and attorney who merges her personal battle with pelvic pain with inspiring policy solutions for women's health, pain, and the patient's healthcare experience.

As president of Inspire Santé™ – a nonprofit with over 14,000 monthly global web visitors –

she empowers women to advocate for their own identities, bodies, and health. Also, as managing partner of the healthcare law firm Jackson LLP, Erin collaborates with providers to improve the patient-centeredness of their practices.

Erin suffered excruciating pelvic pain for over 10 years, but through sheer force of will, she survived, graduated first in her law school class, and now fights to ensure that other women have a clearer road to recovery.

She has spoken at venues across the country to break down taboos, advocate for patients' voices, and empower women.

Featured in:

Massage & Fitness Magazine

THE KNOWBODIES

